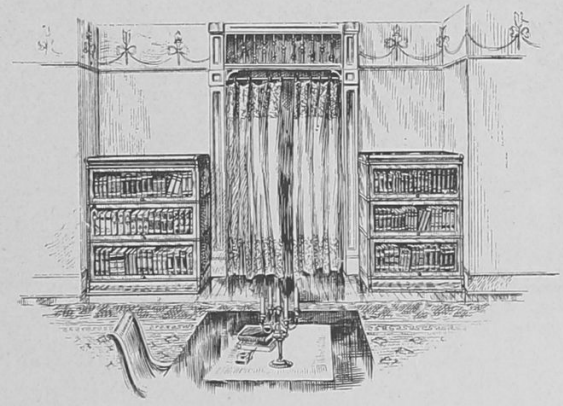
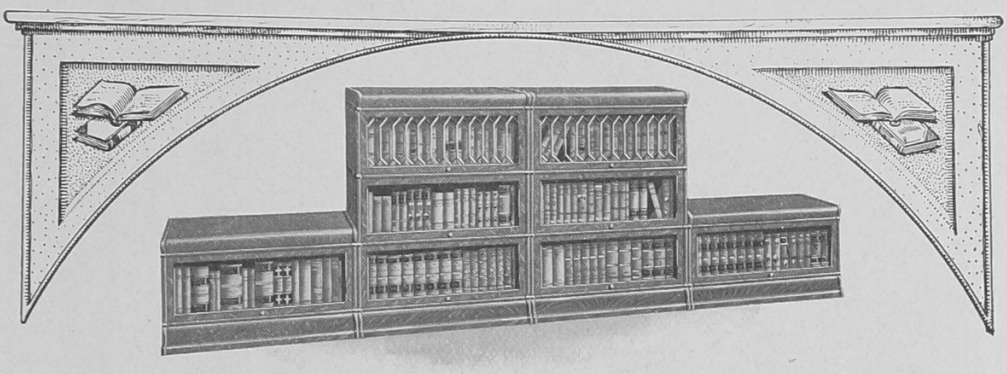
The Globe-Wernicke "Elastic" Bookcase.

In presenting our catalogue for 1906-7, we claim that The Globe-Wernicke System of "Elastic" Bookcases has now been perfected to that extent that it not only incorporates every desirable mechanical feature worth having, but in the opportunities now created for artistic design and effective arrangement of libraries, it far excels all other bookcases of either solid or sectional construction.

Our text matter clearly demonstrates why Globe-Wernicke "Elastic" Bookcases are superior in mechanical construction to all others, while the illustrations of a few interior libraries show to a limited extent the artistic possibilities.





Your Assurance

In purchasing furniture of sectional or unit construction, there arises at once certain conditions as to future obligations, entirely distinct from those of ordinary transactions involving the sale of articles complete in themselves.

Your assurance of satisfaction on future purchases is based on the following indisputable claims:

AMPLE FACTORY FACILITIES.—Our plant is the largest factory in the world of its kind. It represents an investment of over two million dollars and covers over eighteen acres of floor space.

AMPLE CAPITAL.—Our financial rating—$1,000,000 and over—is the highest given by commercial agencies.

EXPERIENCE AND ORGANIZATION.—Being the originators of the Unit Idea, as applied to both sectional bookcases and filing cabinets, this company has long since passed the experimental period.

Years of experience and thorough organization have naturally enabled this company to secure the advantage of all practical improvements that would better the physical construction, or enhance the quality and appearance of these goods.

Ample capital, adequate factory facilities, long experience and thorough organization all combine to afford the buyer of Globe-Wernicke products the strongest guarantee of absolute protection on either present or future purchases that it is possible to make.

Mechanical Construction.

A Globe-Wernicke Bookcase Unit is complete in itself—that is—it is of solid and not knock-down construction.

This insures sufficient strength to remove a unit with contents intact and without danger of collapse.

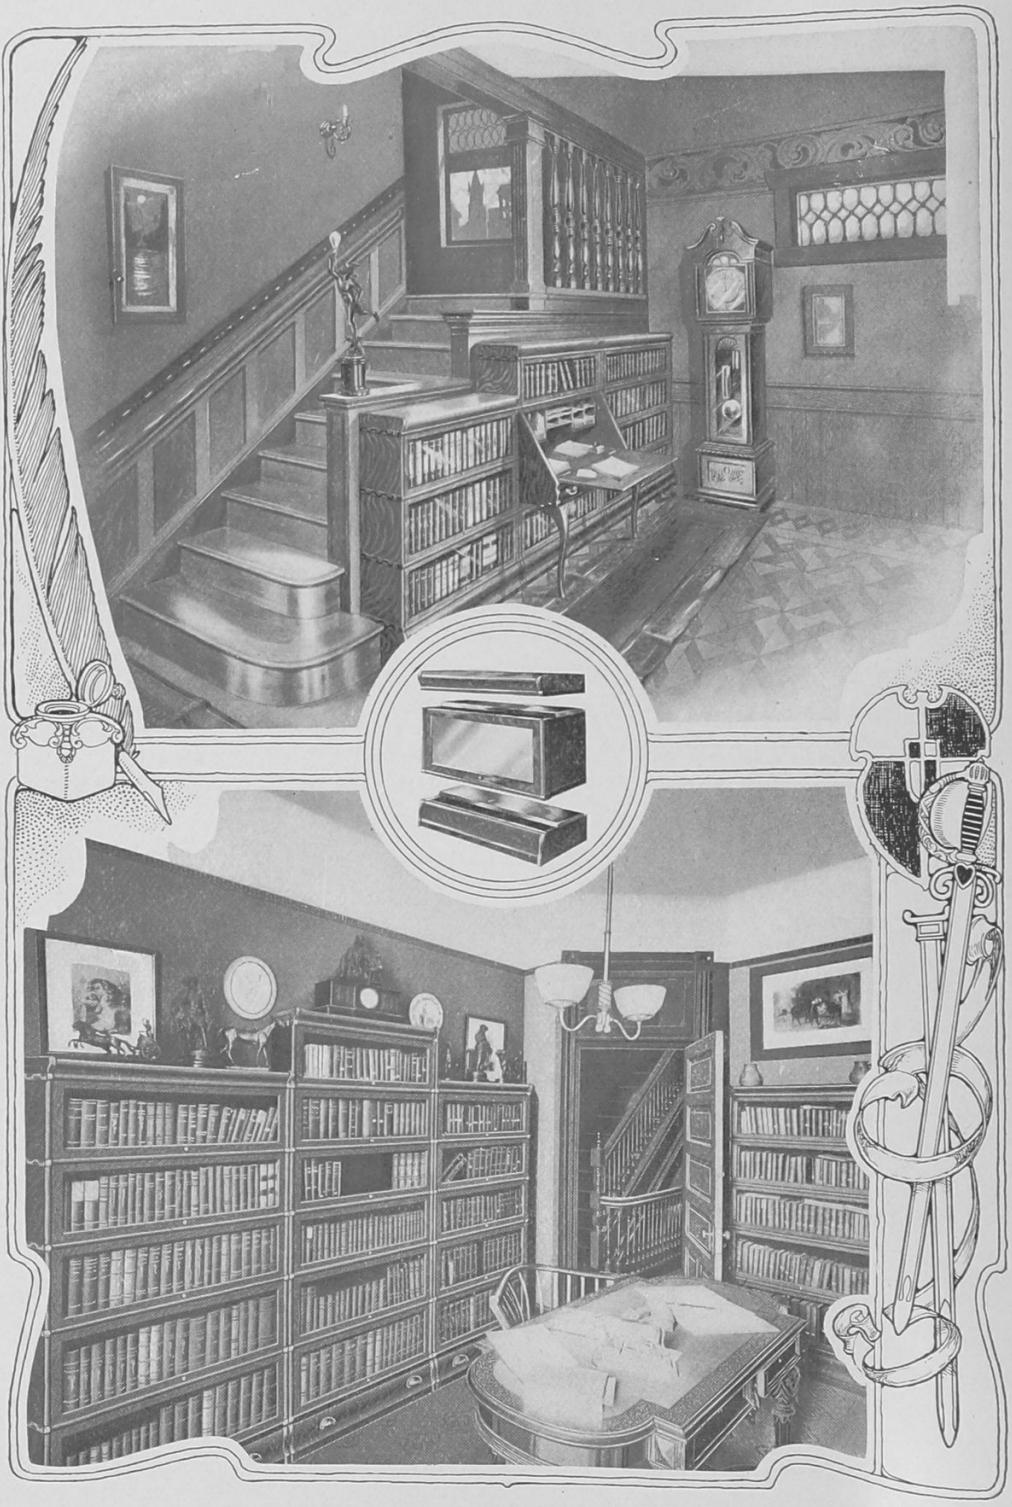
The front and sides of each unit are of selected white oak or mahogany.

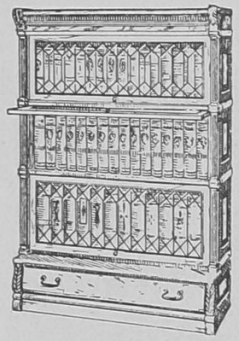
The backs and bottoms are of three-ply wood which offsets any tendency to warp, split or swell. By three-ply, we mean that each back and bottom is made of three separate pieces carefully glued together, the grain of the centerpiece running crosswise with the grain of the outer pieces.

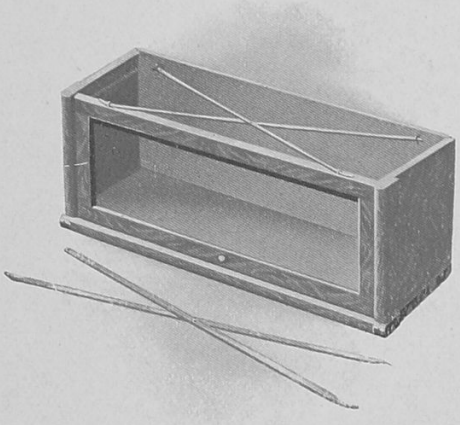
Each unit is provided with a disappearing glass door set in a solid frame securely joined together, which, in opening, swings upward and then noiselessly backward, entirely out of the way. In closing, the door is drawn forward and released, its action being governed by a metal equalizer described on the following page.

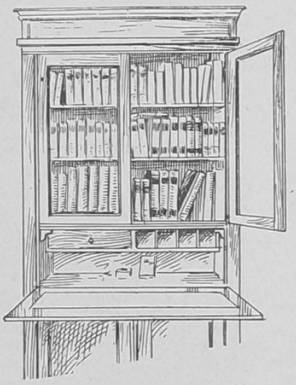
Each section is so correctly proportioned that there is not the least suggestion of clumsiness—so strong and light that it can be carried with its full complement of books.

Fitted over each door is an elastic strip to protect contents from dust.









The Globe-Wernicke Door Equalizer.

Whether a bookcase can be regarded as a complete success or not, depends to a very considerable success upon the door.

In a solid bookcase, if the door be suspended on hinges, it is very apt to swing open unless locked, and when open is always more or less in the way and liable to damage.

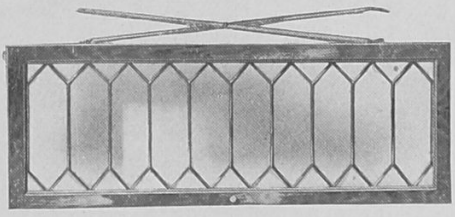
In a sectional bookcase the chief difficulty to overcome is a tendency on the part of the door to catch or bind.

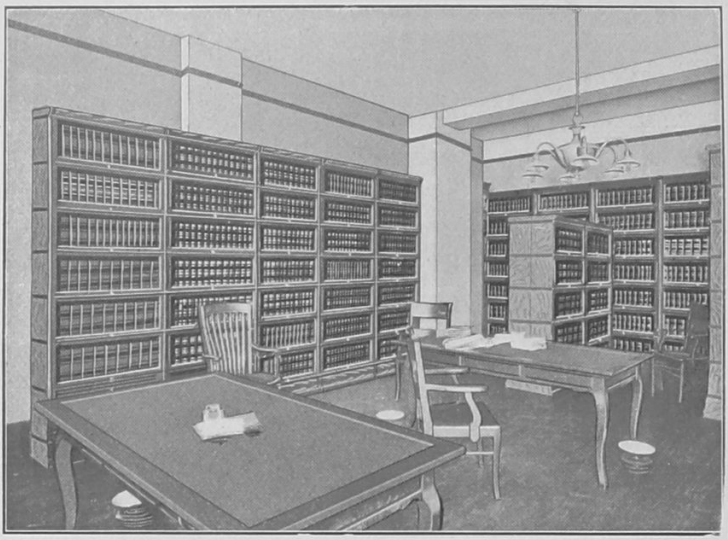
Our recent invention known as the door "Equalizer" has proven to be a most fortunate and successful solution of the difficulty.

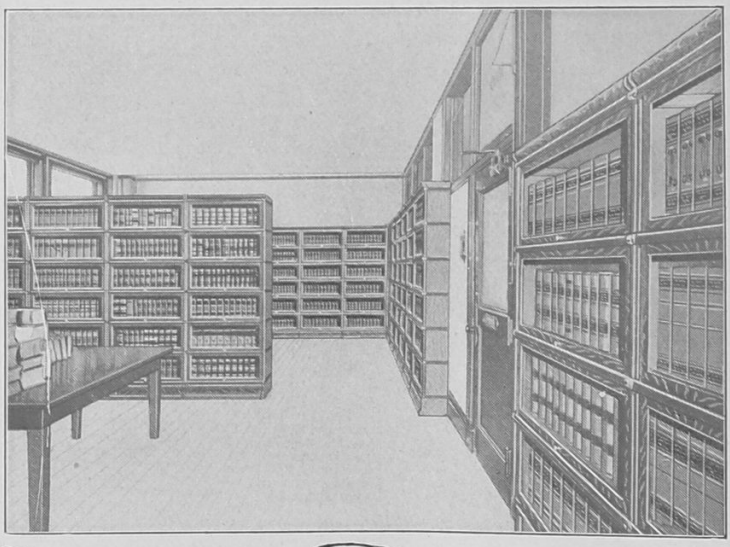
It absolutely controls the movement of the door by centering its action so as to make it absolutely impossible to bind while traveling.

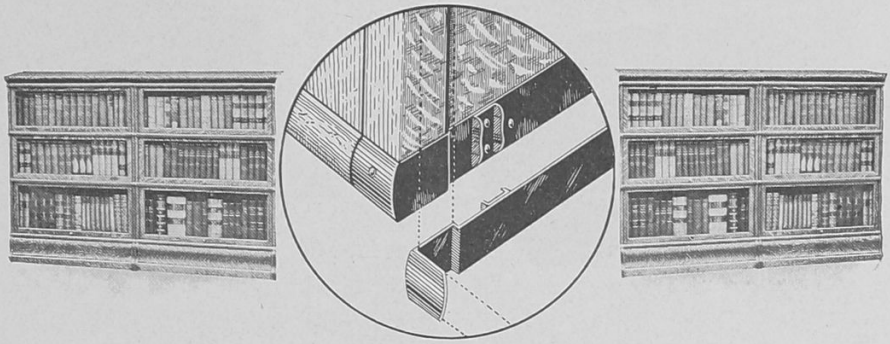
It takes up absolutely no book space and is noiseless in action.

Both the standard and three-quarter length sections of Globe-Wernicke bookcases are equipped with this equalizer.









The Interlocking Strip.

All Globe-Wernicke "Elastic" Units are provided with a metal interlocking strip, the importance of which merits special comment.

To build two or three bookcase units one on top the other is easy of accomplishment.

But, when two or more tiers, each containing three or more units, are placed side by side, the only way by which a perfect alignment can be secured and maintained is by this inconspicuous, but efficient metal interlocking device, which is the only one that has proven practical to hold the end-to-end units together and prevent unsightly apertures between sections.

These metal strips also prevent any tendency to warp or shrink—contingencies ever present in changing climates.

To recapitulate the superior mechanical points of construction in the Globe-Wernicke "Elastic" Bookcase, we have:

"A unit of solid and not collapsable construction.

"A unit sufficiently strong and light to enable its being carried with contents intact.

"A door so controlled by an equalizer that it cannot possibly bind or catch.

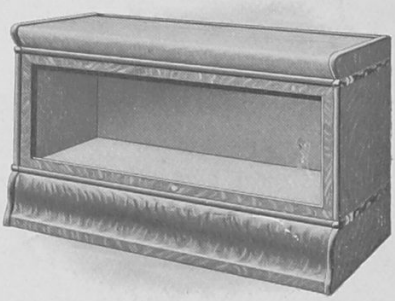
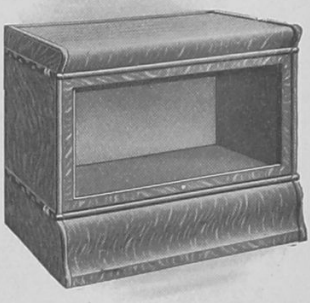
"An interlocking strip which secures and maintains a perfect alignment and prevents warping and splitting."



Regular Length,
34 inches outside.



Three-quarter Length,
25½ inches outside.

Comparative Lengths.

The Globe-Wernicke "Elastic" Bookcase Units are made in whole and three-quarter sections.

All whole sections measure 34 inches outside, and 32 inches inside, in length; these units being designated as regular, in the diagram on the opposite page.

All three-quarter sections measure 25½ inches outside, and 23½ inches inside, in length; these units being designated as three-quarter in diagram on the opposite page.

These short, or three-quarter sections are also designated by the character "S" appearing after the number giving the inside height of unit; for example, D–10¼–S means a unit three-quarters of the length of the regular D–10¼ size—see pages 52 and 53.

The three-quarter sections do not create the square box effect of half-sections, and furthermore, when used in conjunction with the regular length sections, are capable of fitting a larger number of given lengths than a combination of whole with half-sections.

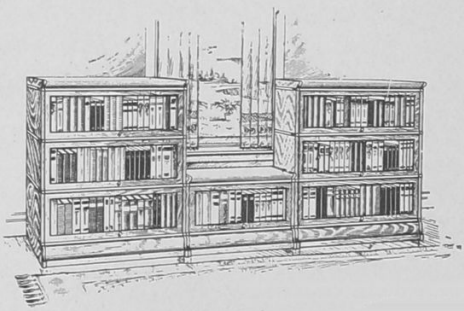
The diagram of the comparative space occupied by a single three-quarter section to that occupied by three regular sections as shown on the opposite page will be found valuable in measuring wall space occupied by Globe-Wernicke Bookcase Units when placed end-to-end.



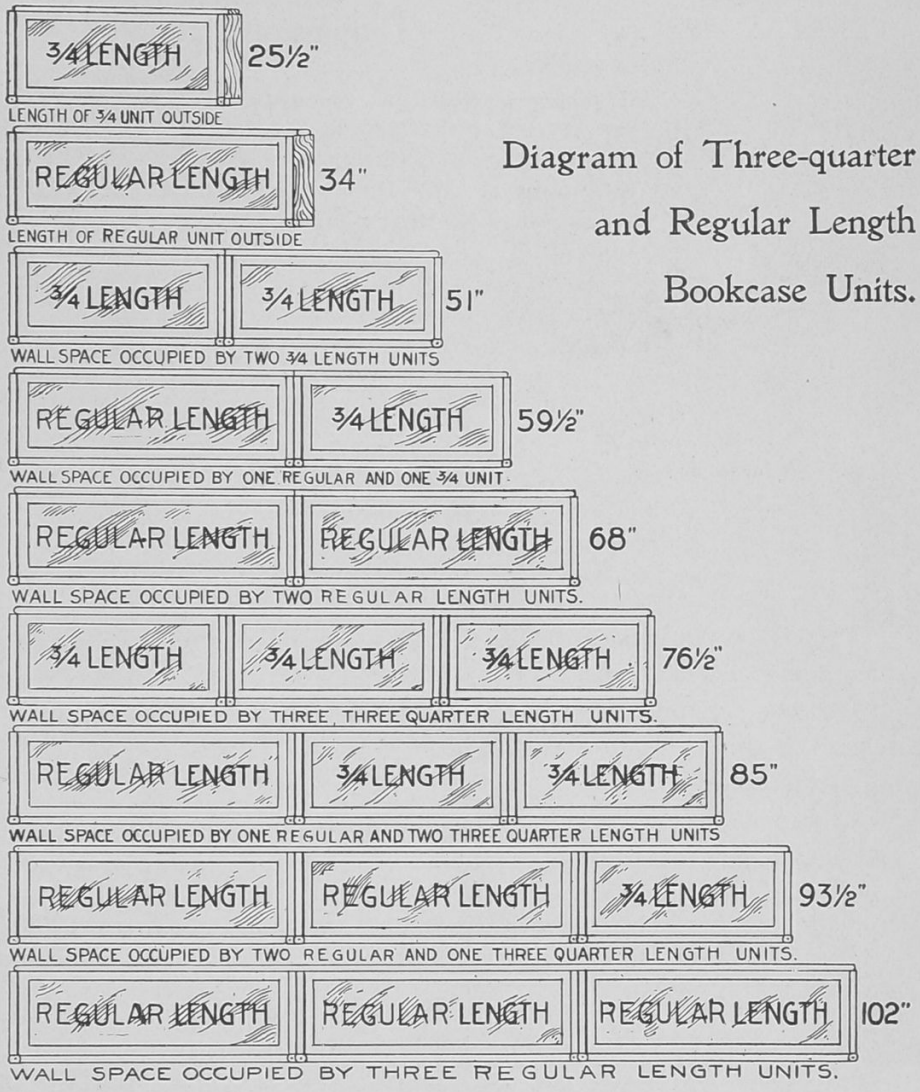


Diagram of Three-quarter and Regular Length Bookcase Units.

The accompanying diagram is intended to demonstrate the number of combinations which it is possible to make in a given space of 102 inches, or, the extreme length of three regular size units.

The length of a regular unit is 34 inches outside, while that of a three-quarter section is 25½ inches. Therefore, it is possible to make an end-to-end combination every 8½ inches beyond 51 inches, which is the space required by two three-quarter length sections.

These three-quarter sections will be furnished in all finishes listed in this catalogue in C., D. and E. size Standard units, but not in the Ideal or Mission patterns.

The prices of the three-quarter bookcase units will be 25 cents less per unit than the regular length, and the same price as regular length for top and base units—see list, pages 52 and 53.

Dimensions.

All regular length units measure 34 inches outside. All three-quarter units, 25½ inches outside.

Three-quarter length units are designated by the letter "S" immediately after the number giving height.

To designate the three respective depths we use the terms C., D. and E.

"C" units are 8 inches deep, "D" units 9½ inches deep, "E" units 12 inches deep inside.

To designate the six respective heights, we specify the number of inches immediately after the letter thus: "C–9½ units" are 9½ inches high inside—see diagram:

C. UNITS

C–9½ Unit.....is	9½	in. high,	8	in. deep,	32	in. long,	inside.
C–9½–S Unit...is	9½	"	8	"	23½	"	"
C–11 Unit.....is	11	"	8	"	32	"	"
C–11–S Unit ...is	11	"	8	"	23½	"	"

The "C" size units are intended more particularly for office and law libraries. They will accommodate all standard law books excepting the U. S. Revised Statutes, which require D–12¼ size—see pages 34-35 —see list on page 52.

D. UNITS

D–8½ Unit.....is	8½	in. high,	9½	in. deep,	32	in. long,	inside.
D–8½–S Unit..	8½	"	9½	"	23½	"	"
D–10¼ Unit....	10¼	"	9½	"	32	"	"
D–10¼–S Unit	10¼	"	9½	"	23½	"	"
D–12¼ Unit....	12¼	"	9½	"	32	"	"
D–12¼–S Unit	12¼	"	9½	"	23½	"	"

The "D" units are designed particularly for home libraries, the respective heights being so graded as to cover all ordinary requirements for arranging collections of books, including standard works of fiction, biography, history, educational and religious works, encyclopedias, etc.—see list on page 52.

E. UNITS

E–13½ Unit....is	13½	in. high,	12	in. deep,	32	in. long,	inside.
E–13½–S Unit.	13½	"	12	"	23½	"	"

This size is suitable for quarto books, like Century Dictionary and works of similar nature—see list, page 52.

TOP AND BASE UNITS

Top and Base units are made to correspond with different depths of C., D. and E. whole and three-quarter units—see list on page 52. All Top units are 3 inches high. All Standard Base units are 7 inches high. C., D. and E. Leg Base units are 4 inches high. No. 16 Leg Base is 16 inches high.

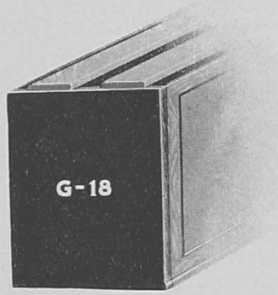
Combination Units.

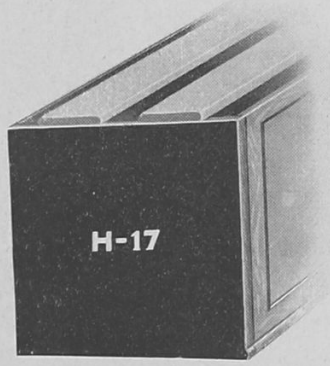
In the arrangement of a library, the different sizes of books sometimes require units of different depths. This is accomplished by placing units of lesser depths on those of wider ones. For example, a D–12¼ Unit, which is 9½ inches deep inside, on an E–13½ Unit, which is 12 inches deep inside—see illustration. The wider unit is then designated as a Combination Unit.

Combination Units are made in D–10¼, D–12¼, E–13½, G–18 and H–17 sizes and listed on pages 53 and 54.

The units of lesser depth that fit above a D–10¼ Combination and D–12¼ Combination units are the C–9½ and C–11 units.

The units of lesser depth that fit above an E–13½ Combination unit are the D–8½, D–10¼, D–10¼ Comb., D–12¼, D–12¼ Comb., C–9½ and C–11 Units.





Special Size Units.

For the accommodation of extra large books, such as atlases, art portfolios, musical publications, bound periodicals, etc., we furnish on short notice special size units designated as G–18 and H–17 sizes respectively, but we do not carry these in stock:

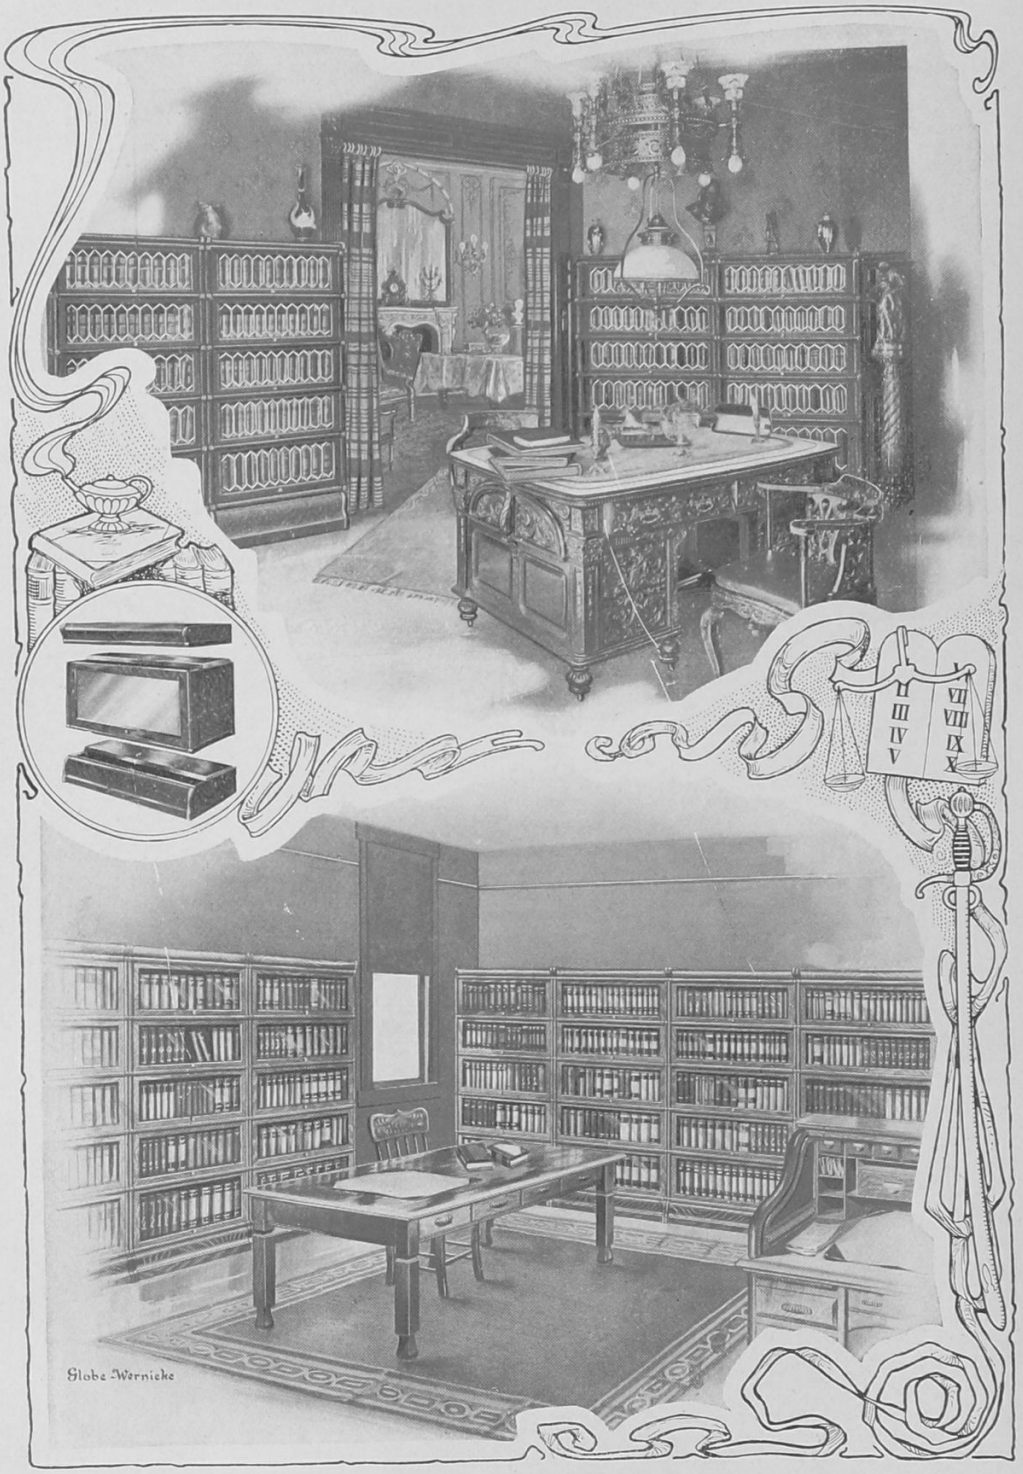
INSIDE DIMENSIONS.

G–18 Units are 18 in. high, 13 in. deep, 32 in. long.
H–17 Units " 17 " 16 " 32 "

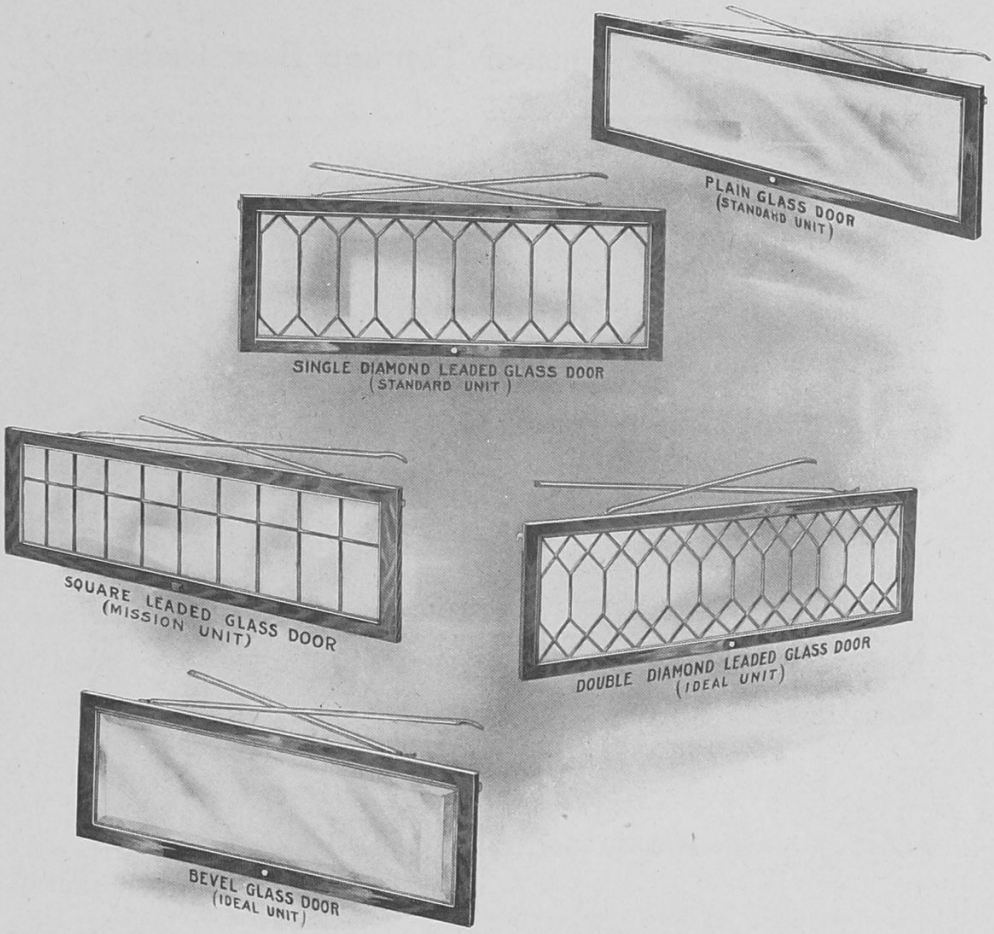
G. and H. Units are not made in three-quarter lengths, except on special orders.

When these sizes are desired to combine with units of lesser depth, specify G. Combination and H. Combination respectively.

These units are listed on page 54.



Globe-Wernicke



Styles of Glass Doors

All standard styles of bookcase units are fitted with either plain glass doors, or, when so specified, with the single diamond pattern of leaded glass doors, which add so materially to the appearance of library cases.

Bevel Plate and Leaded glass doors (single diamond pattern) are furnished in regular and three-quarter length units at the following prices added to those given on pages 52 and 53:

C. and D. size units.....$1.50 each.
E. size units..... 1.75 each.

The mission style of leaded glass door is only furnished in the mission pattern of bookcase units described on pages 48 and 49.

Double Diamond leaded glass doors are furnished only in the Ideal pattern of units described on pages 50 and 51.

Mitered Top and Base Units

In addition to the regular Top and Base Units as formerly furnished, we now supply Mitered Top and Base Units—see page 18.

This enables one to place two sections side by side in the corner of a room, and produce the effect of one continuous bookcase as shown in the above illustration.

To fit the space between each Door Unit, we supply a finished strip similar to the grade of unit ordered. This is attached by screws to the end unit.

The Mitered Bases are furnished with or without drawers.

In ordering mitered tops and bases for bookcase units it is absolutely necessary that you specify whether right-hand or left-hand units are wanted.

Right-hand mitered tops and bases have the miter on the right-hand end as you face the unit.

PRICES.

For prices of Mitered Top and Base Units, add 50 per cent. to the list price of regular Tops and Bases as given on pages 52 and 53. This also includes the price of the end strips.

Patented May 5, 1903.

This separable feature gives added value to our Desk Unit, as it is the only device made that can be used alone as a desk, or with book units, as a combination bookcase and desk, and either alone or in combination, possesses both the elements of usefulness and beauty—see pages 38 and 39. Made only in quartered oak and real mahogany.

Globe-Wernicke Mission Bookcase Units

The combination of bookcase sections shown on this page in the above illustration represents the new Mission pattern of Globe-Wernicke "Elastic" Units, which are described for the first time in this catalogue.

The doors in this new unit are fitted with leaded glass set in a square, instead of diamond shape frame, and the metal trimmings are of solid brass, being dull black color on the oak units and brush finish on the mahogany. The interlocking strips are not exposed except on the sides.

The top and drawer base units are designed to carry out the idea of simple straight outlines, being entirely free from any moulded or ornamental details.

These units are only furnished in the sizes and finishes described on the opposite page, being entirely distinct from the standard patterns listed on the preceding pages.

The Globe-Wernicke Ideal "Elastic" Bookcase.

In recognition of a demand for a bookcase built on the Globe-Wernicke "Elastic" principle of construction, but one of more exclusive and distinctive type than the standard patterns, we call attention to the "Ideal" pattern illustrated above.

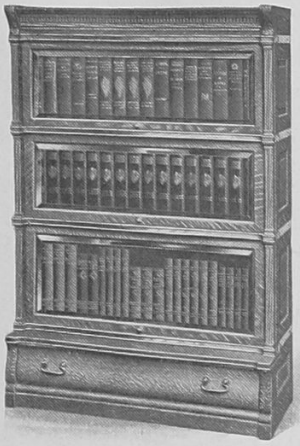
As will be readily observed, this unit, while more ornate in appearance, does not suggest a fancy pattern, nor does it bear the stamp of novelty, that would in time become tiresome.

Owners of fine libraries are usually admirers of the bookbinders' art and take pardonable pride in showing costly volumes encased in handsome exteriors.

The door of this new unit is fitted with heavy French beveled plate glass, so effective in enhancing the binding of beautiful and rare books, or a pleasing outline effect is gained by the use of double leaded glass or a combination of the plate and leaded glass.

Instead of plain ends, each unit is paneled, has swell front and fluted pilaster. The base contains a large drawer suitable for holding art portfolios, while the crown or top with its dentil moulding and carved ends completes an effect both simple and elegant.

Finish and Sizes of "Ideal" Bookcase Units



Naturally special care is taken in the finish of the "Ideal" cases and only selected material goes into their construction.

"Ideal Elastic" Bookcases will be furnished in quartered oak and real mahogany grades, and only in the following sizes, namely, one depth, 9½ inches inside; one length, 32 inches inside; and three heights, namely, 8½ inches, 10¼ inches and 12¼ inches inside respectively, these measurements corresponding to the D. Standard style of units. Note diagram below, which also shows the outside measurements.

In ordering, always specify finish desired—see page 20.
